

TEST 10

USE OF ENGLISH
PART 1

For questions 1-15, read the text below and decide which word A, B, C or D best fits each space. There is an example at the beginning (0). Mark your answers in the answer boxes provided.

The Seven Wonders of the Ancient World

Only one of the seven wonders of the ancient world (0) exists. This is hardly (1), as it is probably the most dramatic and indestructible. The Egyptian Pyramids were (2) between 2550 BC and 2480 BC as royal burial places. They (3) on the West bank of the Nile. However, the last century of human civilisation has had a terrible (4) on them, as pollution is decaying the stone. All of the (5) six wonders have been completely (6) by war or natural disasters. For example, the Colossus of Rhodes (7) during an earthquake just 200 years after it was put up at the end of the 4th century. The statue was (8) by scrap metal merchants in 654 AD. The Mausoleum in Halicarnassus survived (9) It (10) 19 centuries, but the white marble tomb was broken up and used for building (11) by the crusaders in 1522. The statue of Zeus at Olympia is now (12), but the temple in which it was housed still stands. In recent years people have (13) to compile lists containing the seven wonders of the (14) world. However nobody seems to be (15) to agree on what it should include.

PART 2

For questions 16-30, read the text below and think of the word which best fits each space. Use only one word in each space. There is an example at the beginning (0). Write your word in the answer boxes provided.

Memory

People can (0) be fascinated or frustrated by their memory. Recalling something can be just (16) visiting an old friend, (17) forgetting can produce feelings of hopelessness and anxiety. However, forgetfulness may soon be a thing of the past as scientists claim to (18) found a protein molecule in the brain which acts (19) a "glue" connecting the memory cells together. (20) a discovery could mean the end of a lot of frustration.

Basically, memories are formed (21) the brain is moved by what we hear, see, taste, touch and smell. This, (22) turn, creates a pattern of activity which can be stored and later recalled. In (23) to recall something, a bond must exist (24) the cells, producing a memory pattern. This bond is based (25) the protein molecule scientists have discovered - the molecule works to join the cells (26), and this bond creates a memory. Locating this protein molecule may enable scientists to discover (27) memory is lost (28) old age, following injuries or as a (29) of brain damage. It could one day work to bring (30) memories we didn't realise we had.

PART 4

For questions 41-55, read the text below and look carefully at each line. Some of the lines are correct, and some have a word which should not be there. If a line is correct, put a tick (✓) by the number in the answer boxes provided. If a line has a word which should not be there, write the word in the answer boxes provided. There are two examples at the beginning (0 and 00).

Walking

- 0 Everyone had told me that England was fascinating
00 so when I arrived in London, I knew I would have had 41 a great time. My first stop was the Tourist Centre, where
42 I went as to find out about places to visit
43 and sights of an interest. I was given
44 such a useful information that I was able to plan
45 my whole trip. Despite of the cold weather,
46 I decided to visit some of London's parks.
47 I had heard so much deal about them and
48 knew London was the most greenest city
49 in Europe. In Hyde Park I was amazed at
50 the number of trees and plants in everywhere.
51 I felt me myself relax and took time to 52 walk around appreciating the beauty. I must have been
53 there for hours. When I got to the Buckingham Palace
54 it was dark so I decided to return back to the hotel.
55 The next morning I was going shopping and I couldn't wait.

PART 5

For questions 56-65, read the text below. Use the word given in capitals at the end of each line to form a word that fits in the space in the same line. There is an example at the beginning (0). Write your word in the answer boxes provided.

Adventure Holidays

Some people find a normal holiday boring and uninteresting. The (0) of lying on a beach doesn't seem (56) at all. By offering experienced travellers the opportunity to visit and explore old (57) sites, ancient, (58) temples and picturesque villages, in dramatic, (59) regions, many travel companies are now attracting large numbers of tourists. (60) such as Laos, Cambodia and Vietnam, which have (61) been considered places unsuitable for peaceful, (62) family holidays, have now become very popular. Yet for those used to (63) and expensive (64), these holidays may turn out to be rather disappointing as the hotels are simple and the only (65) available is very basic indeed.
