For each question, mark the correct letter A, B, C or D on your answer sheet.

Example:

Linda Johns, Hypnotist

Read the text and questions below.
For each question, mark the correct letter A, B, C or D on your answer sheet.

When I first started working as a hypnotist, my friends thought it was a huge joke. Looking back, I can't blame them. The only things they had seen were the ones that get people to do silly things on stage, as part of a show. I have to admit that my parents weren't exactly thrilled by my choice of career either.

Everyone began to change their minds when I started work at the local hospital in the 'Stop Smoking' clinic. I suppose they thought that if doctors would consider working with me, then hypnosis must be OK.

I worked at the clinic for 3 years before setting up a phobia clinic in the centre of London. It came as a shock to realise just how many people have phobias that are ruining their lives.

Even so, I never thought that one day I would be the person (29) wrote them. I haven't exactly made a (30) awful the short verses on all the cards were. I remember thinking to (27) , 'Surely, (28) can't all be that bad.' I was wrong. They were.

I can't think of a more perfect job. Every morning I wake up (32) I like. I work from home, so I don't have to drive to work every day. I don't have to take clients out for (33) or try to (34) customers to buy anything. I just (35) to sit at my computer, writing words that will make people feel happy.

What is the main purpose of this passage?
 A to explain how Linda's family and friends gradually accepted her career
 B to describe how her friends try to get tickets to see Linda's stage shows
 C to describe how excited people were about Linda's choice of profession
 D to describe the different stages of Linda's career as a professional hypnotist

What happened when Linda began working at the hospital?
 A People began to take her profession more seriously.
 B Some of the doctors didn't want to work with her.
 C Her friends quit smoking after she hypnotised them.
 D The doctors wanted to learn how to hypnotise people.

When Linda set up the phobia clinic, she
 A was surprised at how many people have ruined their lives.
 B began to realise how many people suffered from phobias.
 C was only planning to work at the clinic for 3 years.
 D was shocked when she realised how difficult the job was.

What does Linda say about celebrities?
 A She has got to know them all very well.
 B She gets very excited when they visit her.
 C She treats many of them for phobias.
 D A lot of them have phobias about cameras.

What would Linda say about her career?
 A I find it very satisfying when I am able to help people fight their fears.
 B I often regret not having a stage show, and becoming a celebrity.

Although my career is a difficult one, it is often very amusing.

I get upset when medical professionals refuse to work with me.
