

Adverbs

Adverbs give information about verbs, adjectives or other adverbs. Adverbs tell us how (manner), where (place), when (time), how often (frequency), or how much (intensity) something happens or is done. An adverb can be a single word (sometimes) or a phrase (from time to time).

How adverbs are used

Adverbs which tell us about

- ◆ manner are often formed by adding -ly to the adjective form:
careful → carefully happy → happily
They usually come after the verb (and object, if there is one):
I plan my trips very carefully. (not I plan very carefully my trips)
- ◆ place usually come after the verb:
It was the first time I had been there.
Try to stay near the old part of the city.
- ◆ time such as today, tomorrow, now, since 2003, for three minutes can go at the beginning or the end of a clause:
I had a very memorable trip last year. (or Last year I had a very memorable trip.)
- ◆ frequency usually come before the verb but after be or an auxiliary verb:
I often travel for my job.
I have always enjoyed my visits there.
He's never late.
- ◆ intensity affect the strength of adjectives or adverbs:

fairly, quite, rather, pretty	absolutely, completely, totally	stronger
weak	strong

The adverbs at the stronger end of the scale (absolutely, completely, totally) can only be used with some adjectives. These tend to be 'extreme' adjectives that suggest a limit in their meaning (e.g. terrifying, excellent, exhausted). Other 'non-extreme' adjectives (e.g. frightened, good, tired) never collocate with these stronger adverbs. Compare:
There are some absolutely stunning examples of Indian silk embroidery. (not fairly stunning)
The people are very friendly. (not absolutely friendly)

Really collocates with most adjectives.
▲ We cannot intensify adjectives or nouns which describe type (not a very Textile Museum).

The order of adverbs

When two or more adverbs are used together at the end of a clause the order is usually manner → place → time:
I'll meet you outside the station at six o'clock. (outside the station = place, at six o'clock = time)

Irregular adverbs

Some adverbs of manner look the same as the adjective form (e.g. hard, fast, straight, late, early):
Work hard on your research. (adverb)
This is a hard exercise. (adjective)
Hard is an adjective and an adverb, and hardly is an adverb meaning very little:

He hardly had time to say hello. (= he had very little time to say hello)

Good is an adjective, and well is the adverb:

He spoke very good English. (describes English)

He spoke English very well. (describes how he spoke)

However, well can also be an adjective when talking about health:
She's not well – she's got a cold.

Comment adverbs and viewpoint adverbs

We use some adverbs to make a comment on what we are saying.

Some comment adverbs:

- |                                       |   |  |
|---------------------------------------|---|--|
| <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> ★ | indicate how likely we think something is           | apparently, certainly, clearly, definitely, obviously, presumably, probably, undoubtedly                                     |
| <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> ★ | indicate our attitude to or opinion of what is said | astonishingly, frankly, generally, honestly, interestingly, luckily, naturally, sadly, seriously, surprisingly, unbelievably |
| <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> ★ | show our judgement of someone's actions             | bravely, carelessly, foolishly, generously, kindly, rightly, stupidly, wisely, wrongly                                       |

Comment adverbs often apply to the whole sentence and are most frequently used in front position (see Unit 75A), although they can also be used at the end of the sentence and in other positions. At the beginning and end of sentences we usually separate them from the rest of the sentence by a comma in writing or by intonation in speech:

- |                          |   |
|--------------------------|---|
| <input type="checkbox"/> | Presumably , he didn't hear me when I called.                  |
| <input type="checkbox"/> | The book was based on his experience in China, apparently .    |
| <input type="checkbox"/> | If you practise continuously, you will undoubtedly get better. |

Comment adverbs which show judgement usually follow the subject, although they can be put in front position for emphasis:

- |                          |   |
|--------------------------|---|
| <input type="checkbox"/> | He kindly offered to give me a lift. (or Kindly , he offered ... to emphasise 'Kindly') |
|--------------------------|---|

If comment adverbs apply to only part of the sentence they can be used in other positions. Compare:

<input type="checkbox"/>	Astonishingly , she did well in the exam. (= I was surprised that she did well) and
<input type="checkbox"/>	You've had a major operation. Obviously , it will be very painful for a while. (= I expect you to know this already) and
<input type="checkbox"/>	When he stood up it was obviously very painful. (= the pain was clear to see)

Some adverbs are used to make clear what viewpoint we are speaking from; that is, identifying what features of something are being talked about:

- |                          |   |
|--------------------------|---|
| <input type="checkbox"/> | Financially , the accident has been a disaster for the owners of the tunnel.       |
| <input type="checkbox"/> | The brothers may be alike physically , but they have very different personalities. |

Also: biologically, environmentally, financially, ideologically, industrially, logically, medically, morally, outwardly, politically, technically, visually are concerned

A number of phrases are used in a similar way:

<input type="checkbox"/>	Politically / In political terms , this summer is a crucial time for the government.
--------------------------	---

Some adverbs or phrases are used to say whose viewpoint we are expressing:

<input type="checkbox"/>	The head of National Bank is to receive, according to reports , a £1 million bonus.
<input type="checkbox"/>	In my view, the foreign minister should resign immediately.

Also: to my / his / her (etc.) perspective, personally, in my / his / her (etc.) opinion
